Request to Extend Special Temporary Authority

As previously reported, on or about March 2019 towers utilized by WURA and WPWC collapsed, and each station has been operating with reduced parameters as permitted by and reported in the above referenced file numbers.

Capital Broadcasting VA, LLC (“Capital”), licensee of WURA, ordered and paid for new steel to rebuild the towers, which has been delivered and is on the ground. See graphic below. Capital had been a tenant on these towers which were previously owned by JMK Communications, Inc., the former licensee of WPWC. Circumstances beyond WURA's control had precluded further progress. The land and towers were held by JMK, the licensee of WPWC (AM), and Capital could not make changes to or rebuild the towers without JMK's permission. To resolve the issues, Capital purchased WPWC and is now its licensee. See consummation notice File Number: 0000189334. With the grant of the requested STA extensions for both stations, Capital will proceed to rebuild the towers as promptly as possible.
