Re: Request for Extension of Special Temporary Authority
WWWL(AM), New Orleans, LA (Facility ID No. 72959)
FCC File No. BESTA-20220120AAF

Dear Ms. Dortch:

Audacy License, LLC (“Audacy”), licensee of WWWL(AM), New Orleans, LA (Facility ID No. 72959) (the “Station”), hereby requests an additional extension of the above-referenced special temporary authority (“STA”).

The STA authorizes Audacy to operate the Station with its nighttime directional antenna system with parameters at variance pursuant to 47 C.F.R. § 73.62. On November 18, 2020, the FCC granted a construction permit to change the Station’s nighttime operation from directional to non-directional, which would allow the temporary operations to ultimately become the Station’s licensed parameters. See FCC File No. BP-20200810AAQ (the “Permit”).

Audacy has completed the construction contemplated by the Permit for the Station. However, FEMA, which has an emergency operations setup at the site, has recently completed certain upgrades and added new equipment. This will require additional testing and measurements to be taken before Audacy is able to file the license to cover the Permit. Accordingly, Audacy respectfully requests that the STA be extended for an additional 180 days to allow enough time for the necessary filing to be completed by Audacy and action taken by the Bureau.

Audacy will pay the filing fee for this request upon receiving the file number associated with this request and will notify the Bureau once payment is complete.¹
